THEATER - GRAND SATURDAL NIGH BILL-THE PILOT-SONG BY MR. LYTTON -THE SPLENDID DRAMA OF THE CONVICT'S VENGEANCE - DANCE BY MISS JENNIE light .- We were sorry to see so poor at ttendauce at the benefit of Mr. Hamilton ist night. The house promised to be renarkably good, but the severe storm that came up just previous to opening the doors was fatal to all hopes of a crowd. Mr. Hamilton is a very general favorite here, and in common with his other friends, we ire heartily sorry that his annual appeal esulted so unfortunately. The Comedy, in which he played young Rapld, is one of the old Euglish school. Mr. H. played the Fart with good taste and judgment.

LETTER FROM FRANKFORT. Passage of the Military Bill-Majority and Minority Reports of Com-mittee on Federal Relations—Tell-ing Speech of Col. Hodge, &c.

FRANKFORT, March 29, 1861. The discussion on the military bill was continued yesterday afternoon in the Sente. Capt. Ronsseau made a speech of coniderable length in reply to Dr. Johnson which, after a brief aliusion to the merits f the bill under consideration, he wandered off, and reviewed pretty much every thing worth noticing in the present crisis.

As passed, the bill is dreadfully mutilated , but, perhaps, better than no bill at all. Dr. Johnson's new bank bill was passed brough the Senate this morning. The inclpal discussion was on the section anhorizing the issue of small hills. The subject of Federal Relations came up in the Senate. The minority report of the committee was substituted for the ma ority, and passed unanimously, In the House a bill was passed suspend

Hodge obtained the floor in the midst of a general scrambic of gentlemen from the other side, and proceeded to state his objections to the preamble. He said that the preamble asserts as facts mat-ters which he believes to be no facts. He did not believe that the proposed amendment removed any cause of apprehension on the part of the people of Keutucky, for no such apprehension existed. Nor did he believe that it evinced a disposition on the part of the North to do justice to the South. He contended that the preamble recognized, by implication, the independ euce of the Coufedcrate States. For his art, when it was found necessary to reognize their independence ho was in favor of doing it boldly, and not by implication n a quasi act of Cougress. He contended hat the ratification of this amendment would be, in some sort, an acknowledgement on the part of Keutucky of the right of the general Government to legislate on the subject of slavery within the States. It is impossible for me te do justice to he speech of Col. Hodge. He spoke

MEXICAN VEWS.

The Attack upon Capt Aldham, We have full files of papers from all part f the country, with dates from the emits o the 15th. The Mexican Extraordinar of that date, gives the following particular of the attack upon Capt. Aldham:

Capt. Aldham's party consisted of Mr.
Brett, Mr. Heslop, and a hardy sailor maned flarris, all well armed. They were accompanied by Mr. Glennic, English Consul of this etty, his family, his sister-halaw,
Mrs. Kauffaer, and M'noc Maison, the companion in misfortune of Capt. Aldham.—
The whole company had two diffigurees, which were escorted for a part of the way,
and they reached Orizava in asfety. Here it was supposed all danger ended, and on leaving Orizava all the travelers uppear to have he on quietty shoozing away in their f the attack upon Capt, Aldham:

leaving Orizava nil the travelers appear to have hen quietly snoozing away in their seats, when a short distance beyond Cordova they were alarmed by the dailgence stopping and the cry of robbers.

Clapt, Aldham and his officers being in the first dilligence with Mrs. Kauffner and the unfortunate French indy, they at once seized their arms and prepared for defense. Capt. Aldham fired his pixtel upon one of the assassins at the side of the dilligence, and then made a dash to gain a position oneside. As he was alighting he was fired upon and fell, the ball having passed through his high. The same discharge wounded Madame Moison. thate lady in the knee, breaking the bone in such a manner that her leg, it is feared, must be ampairated.

In the meantime Harris, the sallor, on top of the stage, and Messrs. Brett and Heslop, the latter having safelyallighted on the ground, were sustaining a warm contest with the assassins, who had retreated a short distance. The fight bated mutil three full rounds had been lived by the officers of the Valorous, when the assailants availed themselves of the still prevailing darkness (for it was about 4 o'clock A. M.) to make oil, taking with them such of their companions as were killed and wounded. The original number of the assailants is helleved to have been nine.

Capt. Abiliani and Madame Maison were taken to Cordova and quartered in the house of Mr. Legrand, where they received the attention of Dr. Carrillo, of Oriziva, and the good offices of Messrs. Grandison and Glennie.

Mr. Brett was at once dispatched to and the good offices of Messrs. Grandison and Glennic.

Mr. Brett was at once dispatched to Vera Cruz, in the dilligence upon which this villations statack was made, for the purpose of bringing the surgeon of the Valorous. He was accompanied by two of Mr. Gionnie's daughters. This difligence was robbed, but Mr. B, having no arms, a simple robberry was all that occurred.

The surgeon of the Valoraus, Lient. Moore, a tew mounted marines, and Mr. Brett arrived al Cordova on the 13th at ten o'clock in the morning. At the time of rect arrived at Cordova on the 13th at ten relock in the morning. At the time of ar last advices from Capt. Aldham, it was of yet known whether his leg could be aved or not. He has the advantage of eing in a due climate, and everything twors his sad situation, if it be possible to feet a cure of his wound.

STILL ANOTHER DILLIGENCE ATTACKED A letter from Puebla, the 13th, also records the following:

The dilligence that left this place for Perote, on the 11th, was attacked two posts this side of that place by twenty-seven robbers. There were seven passengers in all in the dilligence, among them two Americans unued McDye and Hailey, and a Frenchman whose name I baye not learned. The two Americans were well armed, each having a rifle and a pair of revolvers.

On the appearance of the robbers the stage was at once stopped, and the two Americans got out and commenced a sharp resistance. The battle waged for about an honr, when the robbers—those who remained—retired, leaving three dead in sight, two of whom were killed by Mr. McDye and the other by the Frenchman. Two dead robbers were afterwards found in the woods, and it is believed that several more of the must have been severely, if not mortally, wounded. journment having arrived, he had not time dians. A letter from Roma thus sums up their doings:

So far as heard from, tifteen Mexicans and one American have been killed by the Indians, besides several Mexican hoys and women captured. Several parties are in pursuit, and we are beginning to receive good reports from them. A wounded man came to Mier yesterday, and reported that Jesus Garcia Ramirez and a party from Laredo, under command of Benavides, numbering in all about sixty men, attacked a party of Indians while they were resting at a place called the Salado, and killed four of them, taking two Mexican captive boys, and all the horses, with the exception of a few on which the Indians caped. There was supposed to be about twenty-cight Indians and two squaws. In the fight one Mexican was killed and three wounded. The Indians killed were differently dressed from any they had heretofore seen; one had very large car-rings in his cars, besides a great many small once, compelerly lining his cars all round. They can form no idea as to what tribe of savages they belong, as their dress and size are different from any that has heretofore been seen.

If detachments of troops are not placed at different points above here, the whole of the ranchos will be depopulated in a short time, and the country from here to the Neuces river left a desert. A great many are now coming with their stock to the river, and some passing to the Mexican side. DISCHARGE OF CAPT. JONES .- The dis-

All idea of coercion must be abandoned; this is the only practical action a Convention of States can now take. The Republican issues and the irrepressible conflict must be given up. Commercial reciprocity must preserve the balance of the country. In the States northwest of the Oldorleer, there must be a political crevate of Democrats and Unionists, forming a perfect fusion. The planting, manufacturing, and commercial interests of the country are harmonious, and custain each other. The great Northwest must accept the Confederate Constitution, and ask admission to the Confederacy of the South, thus forming an ocean-bound Republic.

[For the Louisville Courler.] A Queer Dance.

A Queer Dance.

The editor of the Louisville Journal indulges in comments upon the queer political dances of other people, according to his views, but cannot perceive his own. In yearcrday's paper, he refers to the efforts of the Courier in 1840 in behalf of the Emancipation candidates. I cannot see why the course of Mr. Gallagher, who then conducted the editorial department of the paper, should be brought forward now. It is known that Mr. Gallagher for years has had no connection with the paper, and is an open and avowed Black kepublican, supporting Mr. Lincoln in the late campaign. He is cheek by Jowl with the Journal in their unconditional Unionism. The Conrier is now printed by the "Courier Printing Coupany," which has authority to issue shares as a joint stock corporation, and it is well known that the authority to issue shares as a joint stock corporation, and it is well known that the principal editor has always been ultra in ils views upon the slavery question and in his devotion to the rights and interests of the South. The action of Mr. Gallaguer 1a 1849 cannot appropriately be brought forward to day as a comment upon Mr. McKee.

But the action of the Journal's editor can be brought to notice to show the source.

But the action of the Journal's editor can be brought to notice to show the somer-sanks which he has achieved in his political circus, for he has always controlled the columns of the Journal.

In Connecticut, before emigrating to Kentucky, he was undoubtedly a strong anti-slavery man, as evidenced by his writings there. Emering upon Kentucky politics as a Wilg, he wrote strong articles to the Journal favoring changing anti-slaver. ontice as a wing, he wrote strong articles a the deurnal favoring enancipation; but aving light suddenly east upon blin, he apported with equal vehemence the prolivery Convention candidates, thus getting pan the strong side. It was charged upon in by a prominent citizen that he had written an editorial extensive the him by a prominent citizen that he had written an editorial attacking the American organization at its inception, but it never appeared. Doubtless the strength of that party deterred its use; and quickly abandoning the Whig to enter the American party, the latter was as quickly descried, in the hour of its defeat, in order to form, at this suggestion, the "Opposition." How fiercely and truenlently he battled in 18-9, out-fleroding Herod upon the protection issue, and the attending dire vengeance upon all who infringed our rights, is a matter of state unorderly, may, nimost national. To day all is changed, and this roaring liou, like Bottom, "can roar you as gently as any sucking dove." Then, the editor skipping lightly upon the "Constitutional Union" platform, gaily trips the light fautastle toe "to the lascivious pleasing of a lute," alies the unsle of "the enforcement of the laws," then made applicable to the netorious modulations of the Federal compact in the North.

What he is to-day, with some, is a matter of serious doubt. He is greatly and grand from the Union—with the North. Surrend as whole columns to attacking the South ris where continues to attacking the South, risrepresenting and maligning its actions and its citizens, but yet never marriars a world against the AMIABLE AND CONCILIATORY North. And yet he comments upon the best one of Kentuckians, and speaks of inconsistencies and political changes.

In one thing at least the editor has a ways been consistent—his opposition to Democracy. If the Benocracy In past years, with a reasonable prospect of success, had proposed to go in a body to heaven, the cattor, lu his spirit of opposition, would straigh, way have led his forces to helt. Whilst engaged tow in flighting a portion of the voters formerly identified with the Benneratic party, who me Joined by the flower of the late field party, the editor is still nawilling even to give his Submission-Democratic friends a chance for no ner or profit. Southern Rights Meeting in Pike County.

At a meeting of the Southern Rights party of the county of Pike, held at the Court House in the town of Pikeville, on Monday, the 13th of March, 1861, being County Court day, Judge Win. Cecil was called to the Chair, and David May appointed Secretary.

Jake Rice, Esq., being called for, in an cloquent speech advocated Southern Rights and the equality of the States, after which Rehand T. Barns, Esq., introduced and advocated the passage of the following resolutions, which, upon motion, were usual mously adopted:

Wayners The laborate reverse of this for buttons, which, upon inction, were manifered, which, upon inction, were manifered; whereas, The inherent power of this Gorenment is vested in the people, and the true object and aim of the same is peace, happiness, prosperity, and equality; and whenever, the dovernment fails to grant the people these rights, it departs from the object and alm for which it was organized; and whereas, the stendy aggressions of the Biack Rep. bilean or Aboltion party upon the rights of the South, spurred on by lanaticism and love of power have now cestroyed this magnificent and happy Union by driving seven Southern States from this Confederacy, it, therefore, as we think, becomes the duty of all lovers of equal rights, to express freely and frankly their views upon the impending crisks; therefore—
Resolved, I. Than we hereful condemn the speciphant coarse pursued by our Legislature, when conveced in extraordinary session, in refasing to pertail the people to express their preference as so whether they will be the affiles of the North, or whether they will be the affiles of the North, or whether they will be the affiles of the North, or whether they will not be hereful.

of the North, or whether they will nalte their destiny with the States of the South, to whom they are united in interest, sympathy and affection.

2. That we have waited with almost breathless anxiety the action of the Black Rapablican party, hoping their breof humanity, if not love of country, would constrain them to grant to the Southern States their equal rights, but in this we hoped in vain; therefore, we assert that the Confederate States of the South have our warmout sympathy. Their cause is our cause, thair luterest is our interest, and our political salvation depends upon a united south.

3. That we fully approve and indorse the course pursued by our distinguished Senator, A. L. Davidson, and Representative, John M. Rice, in the extraordinary session of the Legislaure of this State.

4. That the Contsville Courier and Frankfort Ycoman are requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

One or two of the sons of Madame Yturbide have, we believe, resided in Mexico of late years, and have held offices under the Government. Her daughters were mublicobe present at the funeral, which took place on Saunday morning as M. Joseph to be present at the funeral, which took place on Saturday morning, at St. Joseph S. Church. THE DRESS.

There has been a complete change in the form and triuncing of dresses, and one which will create some commotion among tadles short and ladles tail, ladles stout and ladles small. This change has not been brought about without a struggle. For a year past the leading queens of beauty and of fashion—those women who look lovely in any bonnet and every dress—have endeavored to introduce the gored skirt, formerly worn by their stately grandmothors. Their efforts were unavailing for a time, and many ladles hoped the thing would full. But the devotees of gored skirts persisted, and the year 1801, Spring and Summer, will wituess their triumph. The gorelled to say that it must be extremely becoming, especially to tall flagres. A strange fact in relation to these gored dress es is this: They have not been worn since the days of the American Revolution.

Our patriotic grandmothers of these glorious days wore them, and now this unique fashion has returned to aulorn the daughters of another day of revolution. Truly, this is a noteworthy freak of fashion.

Woman.

A French writer, M. Emile Deschanel, has taken the treable to collect in one small volume all that has been said in centure and disparagement of woman from the earliest times down to the present day. He begins with Greek and Roman authors, and ends with French, German and English; and he entitles his compilation THE BAD THAT HAS BEEN SAID OF WOMEN Why M. Deschanel did not undertake to compile the bad that has been sald—or might, or should have been sald—about men, he does not luform us. But I presume, if he ever thought of the cuterprise, he gave it up as hopeless, since it would be more than a whole temperature of such as a state.

he gave it up as hopeless, since it would be more than a whole generation of authors and publishers could accomplish to finish so stupendous a work. In the preface to the maticious little volume in question, M. Deschauel charitably remarks: "It would really seem that men have said such an amount of hard things of the other sex because they thought so much of them, and they have only affected to hate them for fear of letting it appear too plainly that they could not help loving them."

In glanche over the thousand or so ex-

they could not belp loving them."

In glanding over the thousand or so extracts contained in this volume, I find that the three leading vices they concur in largeting to women are vanity, decelt and receipe. According to most of the anthorities clied, the most tolerable phase of female character is a normal development of female vanity. When Inspired by love of "dear, dear admiration," a woman can say in her heart she in ber beart she

... MARCH 30, 1861 How to Make Roads.

Prof. Fairman Rogers, of the University of l'enusyivania, recently lectured on the subject of Roads and Bridges, at the Sndth souian Institute, from which we make an Extract as reported in the Star:

In any road a regular cross section and a sumoth surface are important. The width will depend upon the traffic expected; in now countries sixteen or eighteen tret will be sufficient, that width allowing two ve briny waters at the rate of 2 Nots a hour, when the boy on the leadin hose should, "Sale hoe?"

"Bout fore rods to the starbud," sereamed the boy.

"Jeses," screeched the capting. "What wessel's that air?"

"The Kickin Warier, of Terry Hawt, and be darned to you."

"I, I sir!" hollered car capting. "Reef your aft hose, splice your main jib boom, and hail your chambermaid! What's up in Terry Hawt?"

"Wo know Bill Spikes?" sed the capting of the Warier.

"Wall, I reckin. He kin cat more fried pork nor any man of his heft on the Waisash, He's a ornament to his sex?"

Our varying temperature renders its use here less practicable.

Paithful Tillage and Falthful Manuring.

The good land of England is much more productive than that of America, not something from greater criginal strength of soil, as from more shilling agriculture oil, as from more stilling agriculture counting mainty on two great facts relified tillage and faithful manuring. The Euglish farmer does not believe the here is anything necessarily inherent he nature of good soil which makes reductive, independently of antritionatter and foreign allinear returned to the cultivator, as a consupration of the cultivator, as a consupration of y the cultivator, as a conjunction of the crops it has yielded. Hence his in a principal care, is to collect and home from every possible source. Nothing is more common than who

Nothing is more common than who we is traveling in England than to see the roads adjacent to the fields, heap-compost, consisting of turk tops of vi-tables, as of turning and correct, the stifrom the wheat fields, which is out the from the wheat fields, which is cut us by a second reaping after the crop has been removad; dead animals, the office the barnyard and stables, and in shor everything which would otherwise be lost, and which is capacide of being converted by putrilaction into vegetable mould.

It is, therefore, because this husiness of approximation is an architecture of the converted by putrilaction into the converted by putrilaction into the converted by putrilaction of the converted by putrilaction into the converted

It is, therefore, because this husiness of manuring is so perfectly understood, an so diligently practiced in England, mor than from any other cause, that their land are so much richer than ours. Indeed, it mything more than an imitation of the comony of nature?

Now countries, when first cleared of their forests, or energity fortile, for the

New countries, when first cleared of their forcets, are generally fertile, for the advisus reason that the animal growth of vecetable substances has been for ages deposited on the surface, and there left to putrify and form a soil. By imitating this natural process, the most barren spot may be rendered fertile; by contracting it, that is by removing everyting in creps and returning nothing in manure, the most fertile spot may in a few years be perfectly impoverished.

Moreover, the rich mould thus formed is callivated with the most highful and moreover, the rien mould thus formed is califyated with the most laithful and skillful tillage. An English field, when it is ready to receive wheat, looks like a gar den. It is plowed until there are no large masses of earth left unbroken; it is raised into ridges which vary from six to twenty feet in breadth, with intermediate draining the water. to the water.

The must important result of this thorough tillage is flue crops, and what is not to be disregarded, the atmost near ness in the appearance of the country.

Weighing and Mensuring Hay. I have twice tried the experiment of measuring and weighling hay, and I an estimated that no certain rule can be given usless the quantity, quality, and depth of mow are taken into account. One mow of hay, which I tried, was a mixture of clove and thingthy, pearly belt well belt. hey, which I tried, was a mixture of clove and throthy, nearly bail and holl—rathe coarse hay. The bay was 18 by 30 feet, and the hay was 10 feet in depth. The balance of the mow above had been unoccupied libit was offered to me for 10 tone, calling 8 feet square or 512 feet a ten. I divide the mow in the center, and weighed had of it, and it weighed 5 tons and 1,200 lbs. being almost 750 feet for a ten. The nex was a now of the bay, and in the layerner

We teighed out 2,000 ibs, and measured the quare from which it was taken, and it was 8 ty 5 feet, or 512 feet for a tou, and complete the mow by that rule, and I at missined that none but fine hay, and the

OFFICE LOUISVILLE COURIER, FRIDAY EVE., March 29, 1861. Money matters remain unchanged, and the stringency noticed in the early part of the week continues, but there has been less complaint during the past two days.—Several of the banks took most of the good paper offered to-day. There is no return of confidence in business circles, and the conviction is now fixed that there can be no revival in business muil the present political difficulties are settled.—This is now more felt in this community than heretofore. At no time have we seen the milds of our citizens more awake to this subject. The market for exchange seen the minds of our citizens more awake to this subject. The market for exchange remains dull. The demand is small, and in all cases promptly met by the banks at 1/3c premium on the East, and par on New Orleans. The buying rates are 1/3c premium on the East and par on New Orleans. The general market remains quiet, with the property any change of importance to note in nt any change of importance to note in ont any change of luporlance to node in prices. Flour continues fair, though the demand is small for home consumption.—We quote at $4 50@%! for smperfine to choice family broads. Wheat remains in changed, with fair sales at $1@$1 10 for prime red and white. There was but a small demand for corn, and the market continues dull at 49@51c for yellow to prime white shelted, sacks included.—Onts are unchanged, with small sales at 35c for prime. Whisky is steady, with sales at 153cc. The grocery market was firm, with but a small demand for home consumption. A dispatch to our of our largest dealers, dated New Orleans, March 29, quotes an advance of $2 in coffee, with a good demand. It also quotes sugar and molasses firm at fair prices. The provision market lo-day was more active, the demand for mess pork belog large, and the sales reached 500 bbis at $1 for city brands and $16 75 for country packed. The market closed very tirm, with less disposition on the part of holders to realize. The demand for bacen continues good and the jobbers are kept busy in filling Southern orders. The sales of a shorters, the sales of specific or shoulders, 9%ce of shoulders, 9%ce busy in filling Southern orders. The sale to-day were lair, at 9%c for shoulders, 9% for rib sides, 10 c for clear rib, and 105 for clear sides. The demand for lard continues good, and the market closed firm a 9c for tierees, and 1950 for keys.

Provisions at Cincinnati.

The Enquirer says: The Enquirer says:
Quictness was the most prominent feature of the provision market lo-day. The facts at here are but very few orders for any article and those that are on the market are all a shad below the views of holders, and their deside firmness prevents transactions from beful made, except in the small way. A fair deman for bacon sides at 9 kg, and small sales of 1 to 15 hids are occasionally had at that price but holders generally are firm at 9 100 %c. shoulders continue dull at 7c. There is a fail demand for bank sides at 8 kg 8 kg for receibing to extra heavy. There are but few efforing holders and chapter an advance in prices. Rio Coffee Market.

After the large receipts and shipments of November and December, and the und uis ble fact that there is an soundance of coffee in the interior of this country, the extraordinery and anomalous occurse of supplies for the last mouth with with difficulty be comprehented by the so at a distance. It is, however, fully explained by the long continued rails we have had, which have prevented not only the bringing of coffee to market by breaking up the rands, but have also prevented its preparation non the estates. As a consequence, the limited business which has been connected to be being confined to which was compulsery, and embraching since the sailing of the last packet, only 43,684 hours affected to be proportion bas been saffected to keep stocks within very moderate proportions, and prices have without difficulty been anstalled, especially for coffees of a quality all all good, of which the proportion has been exceedingly limited. The rain continues, and it may be two months yet before we shall be enabled to report any change for the better in the amount or quality of our supplies. Sales since our last amount to 123 bags, that divided for the Medierranean 20,080 bags, those doods at market is estimated to be 19,090 bags.—[Maxwell, Wright & Ch.,'s Circular.

Richmond, March 28.—Rumors of a transfer of gaus from Belona Arsenal ment Rebmond to fortress Monroe, were the basis of resolutions in the House to-day profesting against the movement of arms or an increase of armauent by Government within the limits of the State. Substitutes to the resolutions were offered, and a long debate ensued but no action was arrived at.

Arrival of Old Spanish Cannon. The last Aspinwall steamer brought six ong and heavy old Spanish brass cannon, and two brass mortars, which have bee sent by the Government of New Grenac for sale. They lie on the wharf of Jac son's stores, above the Wall street Ferr in Bracklyu. They are from the cel brated old fortress of Portchello, while ras for a long time the principal Spanis arbor on the Atlantic side of the Isthmu Although long since deserted and of Atthough long stude described and of incommercial importance, it has been visited by some of our traveled countrymen, as he into percential spring of excellent waters of the resorted to, in the dry season, by our mercantile vess is, as well as our ships of war, to fill their casks.

"El Anival" (The Hantbal), bears the same motto, the Queen's name—"Elisab. Farnes Hispaniar, Regina," and the date of 7th Dec., 1747. "Salmo feets, Swilla." Two of the other large cannon are named: El Vitorioso and El Gerion.

There are two cannon of smaller size, one of which (a French piece) bears the following inscriptions: "Le Befroy. A Donay. Par. J. Berenger. 22 May. 1773, P—2600," with three fleura-co-lis.
A sensil mortar is samed "El Paisan," and marked "Solano feeit, Swilla, 1742." The weight is marked 12 Q. 10, 12; another "El Canarlo," 11 Q 30 Ls.

The remains of the old lottress of Porto Bello are still imposing, being extensive, lotty, solid, and in a pretty good state of preservation, although much overgrown with plants and trees. The place was made a fortified fort after Darien, which was occupied in 1510 by Encisa. Being at the mouth of the river Darien, now called the Airato, and on low ground, it proved very unleastify; and after serving for a few years as the place of the reshipment of this treasures brought across the Ishmus, and being exposed to the attacks of Druke are
